

Hannah Mellman

Manager, Legislative Affairs

National Association of Clean Water Agencies

Washington, DC

Hannah Mellman is Manager of Legislative Affairs for National Association of Clean Water Agencies (NACWA) where she is responsible for carrying out NACWA's legislative agenda pertaining to clean water infrastructure funding and financing, climate change adaptation and resiliency, green infrastructure, renewable energy, and agricultural nutrient management. She also leads NACWA's working group on water quality trading markets. She joined NACWA after working for the International Emissions Trading Association (IETA), where she specialized in emissions trading programs throughout North America. Prior to joining IETA, she was a legislative aide in the U.S. Senate for Senators Paul Sarbanes and Claire McCaskill.

Ms. Mellman is an honors graduate of the London School of Economics, where she holds a MS in Environmental Policy and Regulation.