

Radhika Fox

Director

Value of Water Coalition

Washington, DC

Radhika Fox is director of the Value of Water Coalition, a collaboration of public and private water agencies, business leaders, and associations building national will for investment in water infrastructure and water resources. Ms. Fox has over 20 years of experience in developing policies, programs, and issue-based advocacy campaigns. Prior to leading the Value of Water Coalition, she directed the policy and government affairs agenda for the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission, which is responsible for providing 24/7 water, wastewater, and municipal power services to 2.6 million Bay Area residents. She also served as the Federal Policy Director at PolicyLink, where she coordinated the organization's policy on a wide range of issues, including infrastructure investment, transportation, sustainable communities, economic inclusion, and workforce development. Ms. Fox holds a BA from Columbia University and a Masters in City and Regional Planning from the University of California at Berkeley.
