

Robert Rose

Policy Analyst

Office of Water

U.S. Environmental Protection Agency

Bob Rose is currently a policy analyst for U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in the Office of Water. Upon earning his MS in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Maryland in 1992, he joined EPA's Air Office where he worked on voluntary Greenhouse Gas programs such as ENERGY STAR for ten years. Mr. Rose then worked 18 month at the Chesapeake Bay Program prior to joining the EPA's Office of Water in 2007. His responsibilities include market-based approaches to address water quality including 'water quality trading.'