

Christian P. Zur

Senior Director, Procurement Policy
U.S. Chamber of Commerce
Washington, DC

Christian Zur is the Senior Director for Procurement Policy at the U.S. Chamber of Commerce (Chamber). Mr. Zur serves as executive staff to the Chamber's Procurement Council, and specializes in federal regulatory and legislative acquisition initiatives. In his current capacity, he acts as liaison between Chamber member companies and Congress on procurement and information technology policy, and represents the Chamber on numerous national security industry coalitions.

Prior to joining the Chamber, Mr. Zur spent twelve years on Capitol Hill including three years as deputy chief of staff to U.S. Representative Peter Torkildsen and six years on staff of the House Armed Services Committee. In addition to the Chamber, Mr. Zur's private sector experience ranges from serving as senior policy advisor at Holland & Knight LLP to managing a small defense-sector consulting firm.

Mr. Zur received his BA from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, and his MS from the Naval War College and George Mason University.