

Amy Hardberger

Assistant Professor of Law

St. Mary's University

San Antonio, TX

Amy Hardberger, a registered professional geoscientist, served as an attorney for the Environmental Defense Fund (EDF) prior to joining the faculty at St. Mary's School of Law. There, she was national co-leader for the National Petroleum Council Environmental and Regulatory Section Study, led the partnership with cities and interfaced with Texas state agencies on municipal water conservation policies, and was the lead on the organization's efforts to stop authorization of TXU Energy's proposed coal plants. She also created and authored a blog on Texas water policy.

Before EDF, Ms. Hardberger clerked for The Hon. William Wayne Justice, Eastern District, and worked as an environmental consultant and project manager for Universe Technologies, Inc., at Kelly Air Force Base. She began her teaching career as a visiting professor at Texas Tech University School of Law teaching Land Use Planning, International Water Law and Texas Environmental Law among others.

Ms. Hardberger holds a BA from Earlham College, a MS from the University of Texas at San Antonio and a JD from Texas Tech University School of Law.
