

Cameron Evans

General Manager, Water

Transfield Services

North Sydney, NSW

Australia

Cameron Evans is the General Manager, Water for Transfield Services, a leading supplier of contract operations, maintenance, construction and asset management services to the Australian and New Zealand Water and Wastewater industry. In this role, Mr. Evans oversees all of Transfield Services' operations throughout Australian and New Zealand. Prior to this, he worked for Veolia Water where he was involved in the development and delivery of some of the Country's largest water recycling and desalination projects. He has also worked across the United Kingdom and Europe, delivering the Asset Management Programs for various utilities. Mr. Evans has degrees from the University of Newcastle, University of Sydney and University of New South Wales in Environmental and Chemical Engineering, Finance and Business Administration.