

Jane E. Madden
Senior Vice President
CDM Smith
Cambridge, MA

Jane Madden is a Senior Vice President with CDM Smith, and a registered professional engineer in Massachusetts. Since joining CDM Smith in 1984, she has established herself as a proven leader. Her forte has always been wastewater treatment, but her ability to think both practically and strategically has led to her current position as CDM Smith's National Market Leader for Water Reclamation.

Ms. Madden continues to work directly with clients as officer-in-charge for the Upper Blackstone Water Pollution Abatement District, the City of Marlborough, the Charles River Pollution Control District and the Town of Concord. Most recently, her passion lies with practical and sustainable infrastructure management. She is Vice President of the Massachusetts Coalition for Water Resources Stewardship.

Ms. Madden is a graduate of the University of Vermont with a BS in Civil Engineering.
