

Adam Leigland
Public Works Director
County of Santa Fe
Santa Fe, NM

Adam Leigland is the Director of Public Works for Santa Fe County, N.M., where he is responsible for the provision, operation, and maintenance of roads, water and wastewater services, solid waste services, county facilities, parks and open space, and the county vehicle fleet. Before that, he was Deputy Director of Public Works at a NATO base in Italy; a senior planner for San Francisco County, Calif.; a transportation engineer for the California Department of Transportation; and a civil engineering officer in the U.S. Air Force with service in Central and South America and Europe. He is a registered professional engineer in California and New Mexico, and certified both by the American Institute of Certified Planners and the Institute for Sustainable Infrastructure. He is the coauthor (with Vicki Elmer) of Infrastructure Planning and Finance: A Smart and Sustainable Guide for Local Practitioners.

He holds a BS in civil engineering from the University of Notre Dame, a MS in civil engineering and a MCP in city planning; both from the University of California, Berkeley, Calif.