

Mark Pollins

Director, Water Enforcement Division
Office of Enforcement and Compliance Assurance
U.S. Environmental Protection Agency
Washington, D.C.

Mark Pollins is the Director of the Water Enforcement Division in the Office of Civil Enforcement, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in Washington, D.C. and has been in that position for about 12 years. He was formerly the Associate Director of the Multimedia Enforcement Division and Chief, Waste Management and State Programs Branch in the RCRA Enforcement Division. He has served with the EPA for almost 25 years. He is also on the faculty of the Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv and travels to Ukraine often to teach. In 2011, he taught at the National University as part of the Fulbright Specialists Program. Prior to joining the EPA, he was a litigation associate with the law firm of Wolff and Samson in Roseland, N.J.

Mr. Pollins holds a JD from the Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law from Yeshiva University; MPH in Epidemiology from the University of Michigan School of Public Health; MA in Technology and Human Affairs and BA in Literature and History from Washington University in St. Louis, Mo.